The Church community can build a network of disciple-building families by equipping them to pass along the faith to their children, by providing quality formation opportunities and by helping them through times of transition, sadness, and loss. Mission. In many parishes, much of the effort put into youth and young adult ministry focuses on participation and promoting education in the faith, with the transmission of information rather than accompanying young people on their journey of discipleship. As Church, we can propose the challenge and adventure of missionary discipleship!
