Amberton University has an agreement with eCampus.com to provide a full-service online bookstore to students. The Amberton University Virtual Bookstore is accessible through the University’s website, www.Amberton.edu. There is also a bookstore link in the Student Portal.

The AU Virtual Bookstore provides an easy to use interface, online buyback of books, and same day shipment of most titles with an average delivery time of 2-3 days depending on the student’s location. Textbook options include new, used, rental, and electronic media as available.

Since no books are sold on campus, students should plan accordingly and purchase their books in advance of the first day of class, allowing time for shipping. Be certain you are enrolled in the course before purchasing your book(s). All textbook information (Title, Author, ISBN, etc.) is available in the course syllabi so students can shop competitively. Most textbooks can be purchased from many different textbook vendors. Some textbooks may only be available on the University’s Virtual Bookstore. Effective September 1, 2019, the Master of Arts School Counseling degree will be a forty-eight (48) hour degree program for students entering the program.

COURSE COMPETENCIES:
The following represents the course competencies for this class. Competencies are equivalent for all lecture and distance learning courses. Following each competency is the assignment used to gain mastery of this area of study.

The ethics related to school counseling differ in focus from that of a professional counselor. There are separate professional organizations as well as separate work environments. School Counselors work with minors in a school setting that is designed for academics. Issues that face children and adolescents on a personal-social level do impact progression in the academic areas and need counselor intervention and consultation. The Education Code is the guiding framework for school counselor’s work, and it has become more complex in interpretation and implementation. Legal issues are quickly becoming a concern for school counselors as they practice in the public setting.

UPON COMPLETION OF THE COURSE, THE STUDENT WILL BE COMPETENT IN:

| 1. Examining trends in the codes of ethics and ethical decision-making within the counseling profession. |
| 2. Describing and analyzing the ethical, legal, and professional standards of the counseling profession, including state and national ethical and legal codes related to mental health counselors. |
| 3. Managing high risk behaviors in the school culture such as self-injurious behaviors, suicidal ideation, and potential for violence. |
| 4. Developing appropriate case notes, guidelines for court testimony, and responding to subpoenas in the role of the school counselor. |
| 5. Documenting rules and regulations for the counselor position in the public schools through the Texas Administrative Codes, Attorney General Decisions, and Federal Guidelines. |
| 6. Communicating with administrators, teachers, parents and other school personnel within legal and ethical guidelines while protecting and maintaining student confidentiality. |
| 7. Defining and understanding crisis intervention in the helping professions. |
| 8. Examining the differences between crisis counseling and psychotherapy. |
| 9. Defining consultation and supervision as related to the counseling profession. |
| 10. Demonstrating via case studies the ability to apply ethical decision-making skills. |
| 11. Discussing confidentiality, privileged communication, duty to warn, informed consent, dual relationships, privacy, right of clients, professional liability, and malpractice in mental health setting. |
| 12. Assessing one’s own values, attitudes, and beliefs as a helping professional. |
| 13. Discussing the ethics of academic advisement of students in the public school setting. |
| 14. Communicating an understanding of the ethical guidelines concerning college admission process, college letters of recommendation and scholarship needs for the student. |
| 15. Demonstrating the best practices of student assessment for career programs and career advisement along with advocacy in selection of students for special school programs and leadership roles. |
| 16. Distinguishing between the role of the counselor in the school culture and that of a private practice setting. |
| 17. Demonstrating the need for confidentiality issues on a school campus and the areas in which that is appropriate. |
| 18. Demonstrating the best process for data collection and its uses for the best student academic outcome. |
| 19. Explaining high stakes testing and related stressors in the school culture. |
COURSE POLICIES:
No make-up exams, assignments, or extra credit work. Keep instructor updated if any questions and/or concerns arise.

Student’s Responsibilities
This syllabus contains information, policies and procedures for a specific course. By enrolling, the student agrees to read, understand and abide by the policies, rules, regulations, and ethical standards of Amberton University as contained in the current university catalog and schedule of classes.

Attendance Policy:
Regular and punctual class attendance and engagement is expected at Amberton University. In case of an absence, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the professor as soon as possible. If a student intends on withdrawing from a course, it is the student’s responsibility to follow the university’s policy on formally withdrawing from a course. Ceasing to attend classes does not constitute an official withdrawal.

Attendance in a lecture course is defined as punctual arrival to, and engagement in, a full lecture session. Attendance in a distance learning course is defined as active participation in the weekly online class sessions. “Active participation” can be defined as: submitting an academic assignment, taking an exam, engaging in an interactive tutorial, participating in an online discussion forum (or chat session), or initiating (or responding to) a communication with a faculty member about an academic assignment or the subject matter of the course. A student not meeting these requirements may be dropped at the discretion of Amberton University.

Plagiarism Policy
Plagiarism is using another person’s work as your own. Plagiarism is a violation of the University’s code of student ethical conduct and is one that is taken seriously. Amberton University operated on an honor system, and honesty and integrity are essential characteristics of all who are associated with the institution. All Amberton University students are expected to abide by the honor system and maintain academic integrity in all of their work. Amberton University and its instructors monitor student work for plagiarism and reserve the right to submit such work to technology-based anti-plagiarism services and applications at any time.

COURSE OUTLINE AND CALENDAR:
The course outline is the critical component of the course. It is in the outline that topics and learning resources are brought together. Aside from a personal lecture (not available to e-Course students) the course outline should sufficiently inform the student of all the information (type, source, and important due dates) that will be learned in the course. Do not include the actual assignments and exercises within the syllabus, but do include important due dates, activities scheduled, as well as, examination dates.)

GRADE NOTIFICATION AND INSTRUCTOR FEEDBACK:

A successful distance learning experience requires a flow of communication between instructor and student throughout the session. Instructor comments are considered essential to the learning process. Therefore, each assignment/exam submitted will be reviewed, graded and returned to the student in a timely manner along with the appropriate commentary. Students should carefully review all comments.

Final grades are mailed approximately one week after the last day of the session to the student’s address of record. Amberton University staff will not post or release grades over the phone. University instructors will not leave a message with comments or grades in any type of media that is not secure.

For questions regarding grades after the semester has ended, students should use their University email account and contact the instructor at the faculty email address as provided above in Professor Information area.

Incomplete Grades

An “I” (incomplete grade) is given at the discretion of the professor and may be given only when an emergency or illness prevents the student from completing course requirements. Should an “I” be granted, the student has 30 days from the end of the session to complete the conditions of the incomplete. An “I” which is not properly removed within 30 days following the session enrolled will become an “F” grade.

How To Withdraw From a Course
To be official, the class withdrawal must be in writing and signed by the student requesting the withdrawal; no withdrawal is accepted verbally. Please review the “Schedule of Classes” (online or in-print) for procedures for class changes or withdrawals and the refund policy and schedule.

COURSE DELIVERY METHODOLOGY:

This course is offered as a distance-learning course through the Moodle Learning Platform. Each professional counselor has an enormous responsibility to uphold the public trust and must seek high levels of training, education, and supervision in the ethical application of counseling practices, in particular because counselors often practice behind closed doors with little oversight. The ACA’s Code of Ethics is based on Kitchener’s five moral principles: autonomy, justice, beneficence, nonmaleficence, and fidelity. Autonomy refers to the concept of independence and the ability to make one’s own decisions. Justice means treating each person fairly, but it does not mean treating each person the same way. Ethical Issues in counselling. Introduction. Ethics are guidelines that are based on the basic principles of the counsellor/ practitioner code of ethics. Corey (1996) briefly outlines five principles in which therapeutic boundaries are based upon: Beneficence: a counsellor must accept responsibility for promoting what is good for the client with the expectation that the client will benefit from the counselling sessions. Nonmaleficence: “doing no harm”. Autonomy: the counsellor’s ethical responsibility to encourage client independent thinking and decision-making, and to deter all forms of client dependency. Justice: the counsellor’s commitment to provide an equal and fair service to all clients regardless of age, gender, race, ethnicity, culture, disability and socio-economic status. Ethics and Law. An Introduction. Finally, he considers the ethical issues surrounding the role of lawyers, including criminal defense and prosecution, civil litigation, counseling clients on the law, and representing corporations. Combining the theoretical, philosophical, and practical, his book will be of vital interest to students of law, the philosophy of law, ethics, and political philosophy. Reviews. A superb, engaging and accessible introduction to the intersection of ethics and law. While confidentiality in school counseling is an ethical term, legal privilege is (obviously) a legal term. Whenever there’s a struggle between ethics and the law, the law always prevails. Legal privilege is given to attorneys, doctors, and licensed professional counselors, among others. But in many states, school counselors are certified rather than licensed, so legal privilege doesn’t apply. Does that mean there’s really no such thing as confidentiality for minor students? How does this differ for minors, parents of minors, and adults in general? There is still such a thing as confide

PSCs respect student's values, beliefs and cultural background and do not impose the school counselor's personal values on students or their families. ASCA 2010. Ethical codes: Referrals. PSCs will use appropriate referrals when ethical issues arise. ASCA 2010 A.5.

Group counseling ethics: group norm & behaviors. PSC is responsible for setting the group norm of ethical behavior to limit possibilities of the group trust being broken or abused. Sink, Edwards & Eppler 2012 ASCA A.6. Group counseling ethics: confidentiality. PSC should promote confidentiality but can not promise. Sink, Edwards & E Ethics including ethical codes and principles aim to balance the power and ensure that the counselor operates for the good of the client and not for self. Primarily, counsellors' duty of care is to their clients. When making ethical choices, counsellors must consider not only themselves, but also the agency or organisation (if not self-employed), their profession and the greater community (Axten, 2002).

Ethical codes offer counsellors an outline of what are considered acceptable and unacceptable behaviours. In a region (such as Australia) where counselling is not regulated through licensing, ethical codes provide a valuable tool for developing and maintaining ethical conduct. Numerous professional associations have developed their own Code of Conduct and Ethics. Principles of Counselling i. Human Beings are Basically Self-Determining Creatures. Human beings have an innate desire for independence and autonomy. They have the ability to control their own destiny and to be fully responsible for their actions. ii. School counsellors must work within the limits of the law, within the policies and procedures of school divisions and schools, as well as within the ethical requirements of the associations of which they may be members. Working with the School and Community School counsellors play a dual role of educator (through guidance education activities) and therapist (through counselling activities). School counselors facing ethical dilemmas might consult with supervisors or others in the field using the quiz as a discussion guide. School counseling meetings might center on ethical discussions and how this quiz may or may not violate school policies or specific state laws. Further, school counselors might discuss scenarios in the quiz with administrators or parents. Perhaps the quiz can serve as a catalyst for educating principals or even parents about appropriate or inappropriate methods of response. Stone, C. (2005).
